THE PATH OF COURAGE...
OUR Greatest Gift Revealed

“I cannot tell your fortune dear, but this I understand.

If faith and courage shape your ends...success is in your hands.” Robert Caldwell Allison - Dec. 29, 1946

This poem was written by my Grandfather to my Father and his Brother shortly after they courageously departed Ireland for the USA. Some believe courage is to have “no fear”. We know that being courageous and demonstrating it in life is a process of feeling the fear, going through it and beyond it by taking action. When we embrace our fears we are able to move through them and follow our dreams. We then reveal the true nature of being courageous...living life fully engaged, taking chances and being deeply connected to our deepest desires. If we aren't taking risks in life, we're just existing... not living the lives we're Guided to live. Walking the path of courage...we'll see life's greatest gifts revealed!
